23–25 August, London

Call for Submissions

The Human Advantage: Progress starts with people

Why IEA2027 is important

This congress brings together an unusually diverse global community. It provides space and time for a uniquely rich exchange of ideas and insight, grounded in both cutting-edge research and real-world application. It's full of caring people rethinking how we live and work, how we improve design, how we enhance performance, all in a world that's changing faster than ever before. Your contribution belongs here.

What we'll be exploring

We'll be focusing on three main themes but welcome all ergonomics and human factors topics.

Beyond Automation

Exploring the future of human work in the age of AI and robots

Inclusive by Design

Using human factors to enable truly people-centred design

Navigating Complexity

Understanding system interactions and performance impacts

What we need

Your work must be original and unpublished and will be peer reviewed. Please follow the instructions on the event website.

Pick a format

Pick the submission format that best fits your story.

Research papers

Got data, a method, or a result that matters? An extended abstract, 2–3 pages, is all it takes to start. Present it as a 15-minute talk or a poster, whichever works best. If it's accepted, you could extend it to a full 8-page paper but make the first version capture the heart of it.

Practitioner case studies

If you've applied human factors and made a difference to an individual, a group or an organisation, that's exactly the kind of work this congress is made for. Just 2–3 pages, talk or poster, your choice.

PhD research

You don't need a finished thesis to belong here. A 1-page abstract could earn you a 10-minute slot in a dedicated showcase, created specifically for work-in-progress. This is where great careers start.

Workshops

Can you engagingly teach a method, tool or technique that delegates can take away and use straight away? Turn it into a 90-minute interactive session. Everyone needs CPD like this.
